THE SECOND SUNDAY

World's Fair Again Open to the Public.

A VERY SLIM ATTENDANCE.

The Day Can Not Be Called a Success by Any Means — A Few State Buildings Locked Up—Employees Not Willing to Work Seven Days—Sunday Opening of the Fair Far From Being a Success.

CHICAGO, June 5.—There was no great outpour at the exposition yesterday. The heat and a heavy rainstorm in the afternoon, accounts in part for the decreased attendance, but compared with last Sunday, the second open Sunday at the world's fair can hardly be called a success.

The spacious cafes, the beer gardens in the foreign villages and the restaurants within the park proper were liberally patronized all day. The New England state buildings were again locked. Pennsylvania, New York, Missouri, North Dakota, Utah, Delaware, Maryland and Virginia joined in the Sunday closing movement, and it is now to be a permanent matter with them if the gates of the fair remain open the next five months.

There is another feature of this Sunday fair which calls for the complaints from the visitors. Many of the finest exhibits in the manufactures and other department buildings were hidden from the view of visitors because the exhibitors or their agents in charge did not propose to work seven days in the week, and all the visitors could see were big ornamental booths and showcases disfigured with canvas, wood or iron sheeting. Not even a flag was to be seen on buildings of Great Britain, Canada, New South Wales and India, and the doors were locked. Visitors were denied access to the display of the United States government in the big domed building and the small adjuncts. Machinery hall was as silent as it was last Sunday.

Music appropriate to Sunday was provided in the early part of the day by the Chicago band stationed in the pavilion between machinery hall and the administration building. The Sons band played afterwards in the same part of the grounds but the audiences were not large at any time on account of the scarcity of seats and the muddy ground.

The official report of the department of admissions showed that 38,000 tickets had been sold at 3 o'clock, 3,000 children being at half price. After that hour the gatekeepers and ticket sellers had an easy time, as not more than 15,000 people passed the turnstiles to see the electric illumination in the evening.

GROWING SERIOUS.

Prominent People to Be Indicted in Connection With a Bank Failure.

KOKOMO, Ind., June 5.—The grand jury, in session all last week investigating the affairs of the wrecked Paris-Dwiggins bank at Greentown, separated without making a report. Cashier Walden testified that the organizers had no money invested in the concern, and drew out all money as fast as deposited, putting worthless paper in its place, chiefly stock in the Chicago Gold Mining company and a mythical trust company.

It was also shown by the evidence that Paris and Dwiggins employed ex-Governor Chase a short time before the failure to go out among the farmers and solicit them to make deposits and to take stock in the bank. The ex-governor testified that he had no financial interest in the bank, being employed on a salary which he has not yet received. It is regarded as certain that Paris, Dwiggins and Walden will be indicted, and the chances are that Chase will also be indicted.

CHOLERA SPREADING.

It Is Epidemic in Several French Ports.

MADRID, June 5.—Despite the denials of the French local authorities, the Spanish consuls in France continue to report the spread of cholera epidemic at several ports. Four fresh cases they say have developed in Marseilles and two in Cete. Between May 22 and June 1 there were 14 cases and 11 deaths in Marseilles.

The Spanish government has ordered that all vessels arriving from Marseilles be detained seven days in quarantine, and that vessels from other Mediterranean ports of France be kept under observation for three days. The government will ask from the cortes a special grant of 1,000,000 pesetas with which to establish adequate sanitary inspection of all Spanish ports and on the French frontier.

RACE WAR THREATENED.

Imported Laborers Not Allowed to Go to Work at Cripple Creek, Colorado.

CRIPPLE CREEK, Colo., June 5.—This camp is now threatened with a race war. The Michigan Pipe company's agent at Denver shipped in a carload of Italians to work upon the new reservoir the company is constructing.

There is a camp law against the employment of Chinese and Italians, and the foreigners were no sooner unloaded than delegation of 100 men waited on them and demanded in no uncertain tones that they leave the camp. It is understood that they will leave in the morning. If they do not there is sure to be trouble, as they will not be permitted to work here.

DUBLIN, June 5.—A conspicuous looking object, supposed to be an infernal machine, was found in the corridor of the Exchequer court in this city. The police are investigating.

NEGRO LYNCHED IN ILLINOIS.
Mob Law Within a Few Miles of Abraham Lincoln's Tomb.

DECATUR, Illa., June 5.—Twenty-five men walked into this city of 22,000 people Saturday morning and struck up a man on the principal street without meeting with any opposition. The victim was Samuel Bush, a negro accused of outraging two white women. Bush was in jail awaiting trial. A guard of 12 men had been put in the jail, and an extra force of men were on duty outside. About 300 curious people stood around the jail all night, though most of them thought no serious attempt would be made to take the prisoner out.

At just 2 o'clock 25 men came on a rush up Wood street. They were quiet, without masks, and moved in a solid body. They forced their way through the crowd and knocked on the jail door. Deputy Sheriff Midkiff and Special Officer Foster sat just inside and refused their admission. One blow from a sledge crashed in the wooden door, and the two officers were surrounded by 25 armed men. The keys of the jail were demanded, but both officers declared they did not have them. The men then went to work with sledgehammers and chisels on the outside door. It was a solid castiron, an inch thick. Twenty minutes clanged before it was forced.

Marshal Mason forced his way through the spectators and into the jail, and started to address the men at work. They seized him and crowded him out the door. Someone gave him a hard kick in the stomach. When the first door was opened another one of steel bars held them another 20 minutes. There was an occasional yell, but altogether it was a quiet attack on the jail. The next bars across the corridor were forced, and with them a lock that opened all the cells.

A frightened negro inside pointed out Bush's cell. Three men rushed in and found it apparently empty. They jerked over the mattress and lifted it up, and out tumbled the negro. He had crawled inside. All day Friday Bush shook with fear. Now he seemed cooler than at any time before. "Gentlemen, you are killing an innocent man," he said. He was dragged into the jail office. So many men stood around that it took five minutes to pull him through the crowd into the street. All this time Bush said nothing but the crowd yelled excitedly. News of the attack on the jail seemed to have spread over the town, and 1,500 people were there.

In front of the jail is a telegraph pole. A drive towards that was made, but the lynchers finally went to one about 600 yards away, one of the most prominent corners in the city and directly in front of the courthouse.

An arc light made the street intersection as light as day. A rope made of halter straps had been put around the negro's neck. When the crowd stopped at the foot of the pole he asked for time to pray. The men said, "Give him all the time we want." He knelt down on the bricks and began to pray in a singsong way. He called on Jesus to come and take his soul and forgive the men who were murdering him. He declared that he was innocent. He prayed 10 minutes, a thousand people crowded around, many jesting and not one seeming impressed with the awfulness of the scene.

Finally the spectators began to get impatient. A man had climbed half way up the pole, and stood in the glare of the light all the time. "Cut that short," he said. "He gave those women no time." Others took up the cry: "Hang him!" "He's prayed long enough." The rope was passed to the man on the pole. He put it over a guy wire, and the crowd pulled. The negro's body, now naked as the day it was born, swung up into sight four feet from the ground, and fell back. The negro uttered no sound. A few in the crowd groaned, while others yelled. A hack was driven into the crowd against the protests of the cabman. The negro was told to stand up on it. He refused. Half a dozen hands threw him up, and help him while the rope was tied to the cross arm on the pole. The hack was driven away, and the body fell with the feet not more than two feet from the ground. The neck was not broken. The body was cut down by Coroner Endure. The rope was cut up and divided among the crowd around.

Among the lynchers was William Vest, husband of the second woman outraged, and Rolla Dill, brother of the first woman assaulted. Bush has been doing odd jobs around Decatur about six weeks. Monday, it is charged, he went to the house of Mrs. B. Dill and committed an assault on her. About 11 o'clock Tuesday morning Bush, it is alleged, went to the house of William Vest, eight miles from Decatur, in Mount Zion township, and finding the woman alone, outraged her in the presence of her small children. She only succeeded in escaping by promising him money. News of the crime spread over the township and the farmers dropped their work and turned out to hunt the negro, who, however, kept in the brush until he got about 25 miles away. Then he came out and was captured. He admitted being at Vest's house. He denied outraging her. A neighbor identified him as having been near the Vest house. It was the first lynching that ever occurred in Macon county. The hundreds of citizens around the scene took it coolly, though they condemned the deed. It is thought there will not be any prosecution.

HUNGARIAN STRIKERS USE DYNAMITE.

BUDA PESTH, June 5.—Railway strikes at Mohacs, Hungary, placed a dynamite bomb in a railway car. The bomb exploded, killing one person and dangerously injuring two others.

CHARGED WITH HOMICIDE.

FALL RIVER, Mass., June 5.—Joseph (or Jose) Carreiro, suspected of the murder of Bertha May Manchester, is under arrest in the Central police station, charged with homicide.

SOUTHERN CYCLONE.

Great Destruction Done by Storms in That Section.

SEVERAL STATES VISITED.

ARKANSAS AND TENNESSEE THE TWO STATES THAT SUFFERED THE MOST—Several Lives Lost and Vast Amounts of Property Destroyed—An Appeal for Aid Sent Out For the Relief of the Suffering.

MEMPHIS, June 5.—Endora, Ark., was destroyed by a tornado. All the dwellings were blown down or badly damaged. E. Friedlander, the largest merchant in the town, was killed, and a negro child, also. A number were slightly wounded, but none seriously.

Dispatches from the surrounding country tell of much damage and loss of life. James Bates was killed by lightning at Huntington, Tenn., at which place a terrible storm of wind and rain raged, doing a large amount of damage.

William Prather of Facon, Tenn., was killed by a tornado, and 10 houses in that neighborhood were blown down. Prather's neck was broken by a piece of flying timber.

The Obion river at Trimbles, Tenn., is two and a half miles wide.

Mr. Manning of Poplar Grove, Ark., was fatally wounded by a tornado. Houses were destroyed and several people hurt.

Camden, Tenn., was visited by the storm, and the crops throughout Bennington county were badly damaged.

The rains have checked the fall of the Mississippi, and appeals for aid are coming in from the overflowed districts, while fears are heightened that the levees can not stand the strain.

At Bethel Springs, McNairy county, the tornado destroyed the residence of Dick Walker, and fatally injured him. His wife and three children were slightly hurt.

A wonderful land sink.

COTTON PLANT, Ark., June 5.—A heavy wind and rainstorm passed over this town doing great damage. The plantation of John Grizzalo was left without a house of any kind standing. At the railroad tank on Bayou De View the enginehouse was blown away and the boiler thrown from its foundation. On William Clifton's place one negro boy was killed and another seriously wounded.

The most wonderful incident after the storm had passed was a landslide on Mr. J. B. Hudson's farm, where a piece of land 20 feet wide and 60 feet long, in his cornfield, sank about four feet, leaving square banks on all sides.

SHERMAN SILVER LAW.

Rumors That It Will Not Be Hard to Repeal It.

WASHINGTON, June 5.—The Star has this: Information coming from silver sources makes it a safe prediction that there will be comparatively little trouble to pass a bill through the house to repeal the Sherman silver law soon after congress meets.

How the will stand in the senate is another story, but it will probably be found that the finance committee, at the head of which is Senator Voorhees, which has been regarded as strongly favoring silver, will have a majority for the repeal of the present law. It appears that a number of members of the house who voted against any action during the last congress have seen a light since, and expect to vote the other way when they get to work again.

The reason given by some of those who will drop from the ranks of the radical silver men is that in the light of the present financial situation many of "their people," without yielding their convictions on the silver question, are willing that the Sherman law should be repealed at once, leaving the question of future coinage of silver open. How far this is the result of the judicious distribution or withholding of patronage by Mr. Cleveland, may be left for inference. But it is certain that Mr. Cleveland has not lost sight of this issue in dealing with statesmen who have been making pilgrimages to the White House.

BOILED ALIVE.

INDIANAPOLIS MAN FALLS INTO A VAT OF SCALDING WATER.

INDIANAPOLIS, June 5.—Eugene Hammon, 20 years of age, an employee of the Indianapolis basket works, fell into a vat of scalding water Friday evening and was almost literally boiled alive. The water came up to his neck, and it was fully a minute before he was rescued.

When his clothing was removed his entire cuticle from his neck down peeled off. Hammon's sufferings were awful, and an attempt was made to place him under the influence of opiates, but neither chloroform nor morphine had any effect on him. There is no hope of his recovery.

CARTLOAD OF GUNPOWDER EXPLODES.

BERLIN, June 5.—A cartload of gunpowder was exploded Sunday afternoon on a street of Kirn, Rhineish Prussia, by a spark from a pipe. Two men on the cart were killed and 18 other persons were injured, several so severely that they will not recover. Thirty houses were damaged by the explosion.

FATE OF THE REVOLUTIONISTS.

MADRID, June 5.—The company of revolutionists who made a demonstration near Puente La Reina, Navarre, on Friday, have been dispersed by the military. Two revolutionists were killed and two others were wounded severely.

CHARGED WITH HOMICIDE.

NATIONAL CORDAGE COMPANY.
The Receiver's Report Is Being Held to Help the Reorganization.

NEW YORK, June 5.—The affairs of the National Cordage and Trust company are again attracting attention through the attempts of certain of its officers to adjust their own private affairs on a basis of 30 cents cash and the balance in notes at seven, eight and 10 months.

This basis of settlement is regarded in Wall street as indicative of the financial condition of the Cordage company, although nothing definite is known of the trust's affairs, nor will anything definite be known until the receivers' report is filed with Chancellor McGill in New Jersey. It was said at the office of the Cordage company that the accountants acting for the receivers and the committee of reorganization were still at work.

According to Wall street gossip, attempts are being quietly made to conciliate conflicting interests in Cordage and combine in the reorganization of the company the Cordage concerns which have never affiliated with the trust. It is said in Wall street that the receivers' report is being withheld in order to give the reorganization committee time to formulate a plan. When this is possible, the receivers' report and the plan of reorganization, it is believed, will be announced simultaneously.

Washington Connor's appearance in the reorganization of the affairs of the National Cordage company has caused considerable comment. A story is current in Wall street that Mr. Connor, acting in behalf of a number of National Cordage stockholders and for the John Good company, is buying up the National Cordage stock, so that the faction which he represents will be able to control whatever action may be taken in regard to reorganization.

Mr. Connor said that it was true he was looking into the Cordage company's affairs in the interest of John Good and a number of large stockholders, but he denied that he was acquiring stock for the parties he represented, in order that they might control the reorganization.

From another source it was learned that the plan of reorganization, which is favored by Mr. Connor's associates, contemplates a reduction of the common stock by one-half, a curtailing of expenses, and the shutting down of several of the smaller plants embraced in the National company, which now uses machines which lack the latest improvements, and the taking in of the Good company and the other outside cordage concerns. The more important of these are H. Fitter of Philadelphia, A. L. Tubbs of San Francisco, and the Plymouth Cordage company of Plymouth, Massachusetts.

STRANGLED HIMSELF TO DEATH.

Sensational Suicide in a New York Hotel.

CHICAGO, June 5.—Augustus Victerson, a board of trade speculator committed suicide at his room at the Metropolitan hotel by strangling himself with a silk cord of his smoking jacket sometime between 8 and 9:40 o'clock Saturday night. Two hours before he took his life he was at dinner with his wife in the hotel dining room. Despondency and Bright's disease of the kidneys, of which he was a sufferer, are supposed to have been the causes of his suicide. Victerson has been ailing for more than a month. Saturday afternoon he left his suit of rooms which he occupied with his wife for the last time. He seemed to be cheerful and before going to dinner he went to the barber shop and was shaved. The barber told him of the death of Thomas G. McLaurie who had ended his life so tragically in the morning at the same hotel.

"Well, do your job in good shape, for if I should die suddenly I would at least want to look presentable."

At dinner Victerson was a little morose. As he left the table he bid his friends goodby in a sort of a careless manner. He left the diningroom with his wife. Mrs. Victerson left her husband at 8 o'clock and went to the parlor below. He had some friends with him and finally left them saying he would return, but he did not. When his wife returned an hour and a half after she went to the parlor, she found the door locked. Suspecting something was wrong, she called on the head porter to open the door.

When the door was broken open Victerson was lying on the floor near the bed lifeline. Around his neck was the silk cord of his smoking jacket, the other end of which was attached to the bedpost. On top of the bed was the smoking jacket itself, carefully folded. He had probably thrown himself on the bed and after adjusting the noose had rolled violently to the floor, thus strangling himself, and the people at the hotel say, breaking his neck.

Mrs. Victerson became hysterical when she saw what had happened and was taken away by friends. Not much is known of Victerson at the hotel. He had been staying there four or five months. He was unassuring in his manner. The remains were taken to Rensselaer's morgue, Twenty-second street and Michigan avenue. Two suicides in one day at the Metropolitan caused a decided sensation among the guests of the hotel.

KENTUCKY WOMAN KILLED IN CHICAGO.

CHICAGO, June 5.—Mrs. Feible, who belongs to one of Kentucky's old families, and for many years resided in Louisville, was struck by a train in Edgewater and injured to such an extent that death followed a few hours afterward. Her son, Macijah Feible, was sent to Washington two years ago on an assignment for the Chicago Tribune, and has never been heard from. It is supposed he was killed by Indians. Mrs. Feible has been living at 1048 Winona street. Her husband met with accidental death in Louisville.

MONDAY, JUNE 5, 1893.

Up to April 1 this country had imported 106,673 tons of tin plate against 93,692 tons during the first four months of last year and the imports in April were with one exception the biggest on record for that month. What has become of all the tin plate mills started by Republicans during the campaign last fall?

The total immigration to the United States during the ten months ended April 30, 1893, was 334,825—a decline of 119,133 from the immigration of the corresponding ten months of the previous year. Immigration from Russia and Poland shows the greatest decline in this period, having fallen from 94,000 to 33,978. There is a very slight decline in the arrivals from Great Britain and Ireland; but the tide of immigration from Italy shows no abatement in spite of the vigilant efforts to exclude importations of cheap labor. The laws on this subject need revising.

HONORABLE JOHN TEMPLE GRAVES.

He Will Not Appear at the Hayswood Commencement, Necessitating a Complete Change of Programme.

On reaching home late last Saturday evening I found the following thoroughly disappointing letter awaiting me:

Professor Hays, Mayville, Ky.—My Dear Professor:
An offer has come to Washington upon business so important and important that it cannot be delayed renders it absolutely necessary that I should cancel my engagement at Mayville on the 7th, as well as two or three which follow in Ohio.

I beg you to believe that it gives me regret to make any change in your programme at this hour, and that nothing but the importance of the business in hand would induce me to do so. I wish to bear to you the most hearty testimony to the strenuous endeavor which the Southern Lyceum Bureau has made to induce me to accept my engagement. They have been particularly concerned in the matter and have exhausted every effort that you might not be disappointed. I regret as much to disappoint them as to disappoint you, and you cannot possibly blame them for my failure to keep my engagement. I am sure that the Southern Bureau will be able to find you immediately some substitute who will defer an even better address than I could have done at this time.

I hold myself bound to you if you should want me to stay during the coming fall, even if I have to come to you at some inconvenience to myself.

With a profound apology for the necessity which compels me to disappoint you, I beg leave to remain, with best wishes,

Very truly yours,

JOHN TEMPLE GRAVES.

This necessitates a complete change in our closing exercise. The roll of honor will be read and the diploma to our graduate will be delivered in connection with the exercises Tuesday evening and there will be no exercises Wednesday evening. All tickets sold for either evening will be taken at the door Tuesday evening. Any person holding tickets for Mr. Graves' lecture Wednesday evening, (7th), which they do not wish to use Tuesday evening, will have their money refunded by leaving their tickets at Mr. Nelson's store. The exercises as already published for Tuesday evening will be carried on in all their detail.

THE JOHN ROBINSON SHOW.

Presenting a New Factor in Tented Amusements.

Solomon, when he uttered that phrase, since become an axiom, that "there is nothing new under the sun," could he "revisit the glories of the moon," would find that while his axiom still finds verification, yet that old things have become new in the reproduction and rehabilitation of the scenes, episodes and incidents characterizing his long and memorable reign. In placing before the people, by the John Robinson show, the grand biblical spectacle of "Solomon, His Temple, and the Queen of Sheba," a realistic, living illustration of a sacred and impressive scene and event of biblical history is presented in vivid form, and offers an enjoyable mind-nourishing afternoon and evening's entertainment. The glories, the grandeur and the greatness of Israel's wise king are portrayed, and the salient features and incidents of his noted regal administration find apt and accurate illustration. This gorgeous and resplendent spectacle is from the master mind of Mr. John Rettig, whose former biblical spectacular productions have made him famous, and who prides himself on this. It certainly is a master-piece of policy in the management of the John Robinson show to thus so materially and acceptably augment their big enterprise, which is characterized as exhibiting the biggest and best circus, the most interesting menagerie and the largest hippodrome on the continent. The combined exhibitions, of which it may be said that they are given without additional entrance fee, are to display here Friday, June 16. Remember the date.

Tobacco Suit Settled.

A final decree was filed Saturday in the U. S. District Court at Cincinnati in the case of the Brooks-Warfield Tobacco Company, of Covington, Ky., against Robert C. Brookover, his wife Ruth, Catherine Rousch, Robert Ellison, Robert F. Collins and H. H. Hoffman, President of the Bodmann Tobacco Warehouse.

Hoffman was allowed $2,156.35 as a balance due him for advances made for Brookover on tobacco. The complainants are allowed $4,663.44 from Ruth Brookover, who received $5,100 from the sale of a mill. The costs in the case, $154.10, and the Clerk's fees, $250, are to be paid out of the proceeds of a promissory note.

MUST PAY.

The Superior Court Affirms the Case of Horan Against the German Insurance Company.

The Superior Court has affirmed the decision of the Mason Circuit Court in the case named above. Judge Barbour, in affirming says:

First—An insurance policy is not invalidated by reason of the written answers to the questions in the application being false where they were so written by the insurer's agent, after they had been truthfully answered by the insured. And this rule applies, although the agent is a mere soliciting agent with restricted powers, which appear in the application itself, as the insured can not be required to read the application to ascertain the extent of the agent's authority.

Second—Where the owner of a house in making application for insurance upon it told the soliciting agent of the existence of a mortgage upon the land, but added that under the circumstances, which were stated, he supposed the mortgage did not cover the house, and that the agent could consult a lawyer, and the agent in writing the answers of the insured in the application, stated in response to a question as to that matter that there were no incumbrances, the fact that the insured did not tell the agent of the existence of another and much smaller mortgage upon the land was not material, the agent being put on his guard, and there being no purpose to conceal anything.

INSURED AND INSURER.

Rebates No Good any Longer—They Render a Policy Void—The New Law.

It is not generally known that an important act in reference to insurance has been passed by the present Legislature, yet such is a fact. It became a law on the 16th of last April and is now in force. Following is a synopsis of the act:

No life insurance company doing business in Kentucky shall make or permit any distinction or discrimination in favor of individuals between insureds of the same class and equal expectation of life in the amount or payment of premiums or rates charged for the policies of life or endowment insurance, or in the dividends or other benefit payable thereon, or in any other of the terms and conditions of the contract it makes; nor shall any such company or any agent thereof make any contract of insurance or agreement as to such contract other than is plainly expressed in the policy issued thereon; nor shall any such company or agent pay or allow, or offer to pay or allow, as inducement to insurance, any rebate of premium payable on the policy, or any special favor or advantage in the dividends or other benefit to accrue thereon, or any valuable consideration or inducement whatever, not specified in the policy contract of insurance. Every company or officer or agent thereof, who shall violate the provisions of this section shall be fined in any sum not exceeding $500, to be recovered by action in the name of the Commonwealth, and, on collection, paid into the State Treasury.

The substance of the law is that the acceptance of a rebate by a policy-holder renders his policy void. This is emphasized by a decision of Chief Justice Holt, who rules that "every contract made for or about any matter or thing which is prohibited and made unlawful by statute, is a void contract, though the statute itself doth not mention that it shall be so, but only inflicts a penalty on the offender, because a penalty implies a prohibition, though there be no prohibitory words in the statute."

Rocco Ferro Dead.

Rocco Ferro, the well-known Cincinnati harpist, died suddenly in that city last Friday, and the remains were interred yesterday afternoon. Says the Enquirer: "Although he had suffered for some months with a complication of disorders it was not thought that his condition was threatening."

The dead man had many intimate friends, and a circle of acquaintances probably not equaled by any other man in his profession in the city. He was the best harpist Cincinnati ever knew, and his services were in almost constant demand for private parties and receptions."

Deceased was well known in this city, as his services as musician have been in demand here of late years at receptions and dances.

STRIKERS ON A SPREE.

Four Hundred Quarrymen Ran Amuck on the Chicago Drainage Canal.

CHICAGO, June 5.—There was a reign of terror Saturday along the route of the Chicago drainage canal, between Lemont and Romeo. Four hundred quarrymen struck for an increase of wages, and, armed with clubs and revolvers, marched from one quarry to another, forcing the men to quit work, thus gaining additions to their ranks, and stopping at many saloons on the way, until, almost crazed with liquor, they left the quarries and rushed upon the nearest camp of contractors on the great drainage canal line. Camp after camp was visited, and in each men were driven from work, and where they had tenacity to resist, were assaulted. Many men were painfully beaten, and it is thought that one, James Powderly, will die.

The strikers encountered no real serious opposition at any of the camps until they reached that of the McCormick Construction company. There they were met by McCormick himself, and he told them not to do any damage to the property. They began to hurl stones at him, striking his horse and bruising him. McCormick retreated and procured a rifle, at sight of which they left. His men, however, are all quiet. At Mason, Hogan & King's camp the rioters struck and wounded Peter King, a brother of the contractor. A freight train on the Santa Fe killed one of the strikers who was on the track near Romeo.

The strikers number about 2,000 men, 1,200 of them being employed on the drainage canal. The cause of the strike is that the stone companies reduced the wages from 17 1/2 cents to 15 cents per hour.

The strike also extends to Joliet, where from 300 to 400 men are out because of the same reduction. The drainage contractors were unable to learn why the strike had been ordered on, as there was no reduction in the wages for their work.

STRIKE SETTLED.

Fort Wayne Streetcar Men Gain Their Point.

FORT WAYNE, June 5.—The streetcar trouble ended in practically a complete victory for the strikers. The sheriff appointed 50 of the most prominent citizens of the city deputy sheriffs.

An arbitration committee was formed, and the president of the railroad and the president of the union met together on a common footing. The agreement was soon reached. The men go back to work in a body without prejudice. The advance wages demanded are conceded. The union received quasi recognition, and the men on their part waive a minor part as a concession. They were complete masters of the situation. The first car was decorated with flags, and it was cheered to the echo along the route. Everybody was well satisfied with the settlement.

DESTITUTION IN LOUISIANA.

Ten Thousand Negroes Homeless and Starving as a Result of the Flood.

NEW ORLEANS, June 5.—Governor Murphy J. Foster arrived in the city for the purpose of negotiating with the banks for the loan of $50,000 to aid sufferers from the overflow in the Lake Providence district.

The destitution is said to be most appalling in the submerged sections. There are over 10,000 persons, nearly all negroes, homeless. They are living in the open air. The vicissitudes these unfortunate people are suffering nearly pass belief. If something is not done at once to give relief, starvation is imminent. The state at present has no funds wherewithal to meet the exigency, therefore the governor is obliged to seek assistance from the banks.

Neutrality Law Violated.

NEW ORLEANS, June 5.—The steamer Pizzati, a fruitier, belonging to S. Oteri of this city, was seized here Saturday for violation of the neutrality laws. The offense occurred about 18 months ago, during the Nula uprising against the government of the republic of Spanish Honduras. Captain Pizzati placed his vessel at the service of the regular government, and she was used as a transport. Captain Pizzati became "General" Pizzati of the Honduran army and directed the movement of the vessel. The seizure was made by the United States surveyor and the vessel will be libeled by the United States district attorney.

Sixty-Eight Years of Useful Life.

NEWARK, N. J., June 5.—Frederick Allen Osborne died here of apoplexy Saturday, aged 68 years. About 43 years ago he built and erected the first machinery for Danforth, Wright & Company, by whom what is now the American Bank Note company was formed. From that time until his death he remained in the employ of the concern. His last position was at the head of the transfer department.

How She Spent the Sunday.

LONDON, June 5.—George Potter died Sunday. He was born at Kenilworth, England, in 1832. He learned the trade of a carpenter and joiner, went to London in 1853, and in 1857 began his life work as a labor agitator as a delegate to a congress of building trade representatives. Two years later he conducted the locked-out building trades, which lasted 27 weeks.

Subsequently he edited Beehive and The Industrial Review, both periodicals representing the laboring interests and movements of organized labor in England during the last 30 years. He has been more or less conspicuous for his sympathy or co-operation with the working people. He wrote much for current periodicals on subjects related to serial reform.

Peitz, who came in first, is completely exhausted. Elsasser is in good condition. The rest of the walkers gave out on the way and retired from the race. Peitz's time from Berlin to this city was 154 hours and 45 minutes. Elsasser's, 156 hours.

Tramp Throws a Boy Into a Fire.

CANNON FALLS, Minn., June 5.—A boy, 14 years old, by the name of Charlie Guist, two miles southeast of here, was burning brush on some new breaking near the road, when a tramp came along and asked the boy's name, and when told he walked up to the boy, took hold of him, and threw him head first into the fire. He afterwards took to the woods. The boy is reported badly burned, and is in danger of losing his life. A posse of men was organized here, who have started to hunt the tramp.

Woman Arrested For Blackmail.

TOLEDO, June 5.—Mrs. Miller, who has hitherto borne a most excellent reputation in this city, has been arrested on the charge of blackmailing, preferred by a salesman in the employ of Berdan & Company. She was caught dead to rights at the postoffice window, and the desire of the injured victim to avoid notoriety will be her only salvation.

Dead Body Recovered.

OMAHA, June 5.—The dead body of Robert P. Oury, one of the firemen buried undermire falling walls at the Shiverick furniture store fire Saturday night, was recovered Sunday morning. It bore no serious bruises except on the face which was badly scalded and it is thought that Oury died from suffocation. He was engaged to be married next Wednesday to Miss Robinson of this city. All the injured are out of danger except Ben Morris and James Conley, whose injuries may be fatal.

Mrs. Davis to Live in Richmond.

RICHMOND, June 5.—Mrs. Jefferson Davis is much gratified at the consummation of her long cherished plans, and announced to friends her intention of making Richmond her permanent home.
